Voluntarily transferred to the heirs of Salomon Hugo Lieben

S. H. Lieben died on April 10, 1942. Shortly after his death, his wife Sophie Lieben donated Lieben's extensive (3,537 books) personal library and other items to the Jewish Central Museum (Permit No. 263 to donate items according to the list based on Sophie Lieben's request of November 17, 1942, to the museum, AJM, Jewish Museum in Prague 1945-1950).

After the war, Lieben's sons, Jan Lomský and Hanuš Lomský, applied for restitution. Based on the restitution assessment P-5.10-6531/174-48, 2,801 books were to be issued to Dr. Jan Lomský in December 1948 (Activity Report for December 1948, AJM, Jewish Museum in Prague 1945-1950). Apart from the document of payment of the restitution fee, no other documents of the handover of the books have been found.

In 2007, on the occasion of the exhibition marking the 100th anniversary of the Jewish Museum library, information about the restitution of the books in 1948 was made public. This information was completely surprising to the family. According to her statement of 14 May 2007, Magdaléna Lomská (wife of Dr. Jan Lomský) was not aware that the books from the estate of S. H. Lieben had been restituted, or that they had been handed over. The descendants state that no books from the library in question were in the possession of the family, relatives, etc. Attempts to find the books using publicly available information were unsuccessful. At the same time, according to the information provided by the JMP library staff, in 2007 there were approximately 330 books in the JMP collection marked as the property of S. H. Lieben. Based on this, the heirs requested the return of S. H. Lieben's property, which was located at the JMP. A very important reason for the request was the hope that the fate of the library in question would be clarified and indisputable evidence of the restitution would be found.

In 2019, based on verification of provenance and comparison with records in the war catalog, it was proven that out of 169 books identified as the property of S. H. Lieben in the JMP, 163 books from the library in question were found, which were supposed to be part of the post-war restitution. The heirs consider the post-war fate of the library in question to be unclear.

The heirs donated most of the returned books (147) to the Museum.
